Death is a passage to new life. That sounds very beautiful, but few of us desire to make this passage. It might be helpful to realize that our final passage is preceded by many earlier passages. When we are born we make a passage from life in the womb to life in the family. When we go to school we make a passage from life in the family to life in the larger community. When we get married we make a passage from a life with many options to a life committed to one person. When we retire we make a passage from a life of clear defined work to a life asking for new creativity and wisdom.

Each of these passages is a death leading to new life. When we live these passages well, we are becoming more prepared for our final passage.

Labor Day Reflection

By Deacon Keith Fournier & Michael J. Nader

On this Labor Day weekend most of us take a break from what we refer to as our “jobs” in order to rest and re-create. We are invited to honor human work and all human workers. It is a unique secular holiday with profound Christian potential. Many will gather for late summer cookouts and celebrations. We may sleep in a bit later than usual and relax from what is so often a frenzied pace in our contemporary pattern of life.

Through authentically Christian education we are all invited to be drawn out into a fuller way of life. For Christians, Labor Day invites us to examine how we view our own labor in the light of what the Scriptures and the teaching Church proclaims about the dignity of all human work, no matter what kind, precisely because it is done by human persons who are created in the Image and Likeness of God.

Pope Francis also speaks of love as the motivation for work. In his 2014 Lenten message, he explained that the force of Christ’s love is based on his “poverty”. This is not poverty in the sense of deprivation or destitution. It is power; it is a dynamic poverty, a poverty that creates authentic human development. The poverty of Christ is shown by his gift of emptying himself, taking flesh, sharing our burdens, and loving us to the cross. Only this power saves us. When we generously give of ourselves in our daily work, we are motivated by, and participate in, this poverty. According to Francis, real development, justice, and peace are not the result of human will and the clever organization of material resources. “God’s wealth passes not through our wealth, but invariably and exclusively through our personal and communal poverty, enlivened by the Spirit of Christ.” This poverty was the basis of Mother Teresa’s life of service.

Diocesan Stewardship Day- October 3, 2018

Since its beginning St. Agnes, has embraced stewardship as a way of life. It is a fundamental aspect of discipleship and remains a powerful process by which God converts the minds and hearts of His children. When fully embraced, stewardship can transform individuals, Parishes, and even an entire Diocese. This is a great opportunity to learn how stewardship can change and enlighten your way of life. It will assist you in sharing the principles of ownership, responsibility, accountability and the rewards of stewardship. It will be held at, Our Lady of Light Parish, 19680 Cypress View Drive, Fort Myers, FL 33967. You can register on line at: https://dioceseofvenice.org/offices/daily-resources/calendar/
Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

The Catholic University of America, (CUA), located in Washington, D.C., is the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States. Founded in 1887, CUA offers students an excellent education in a faith-filled atmosphere that is grounded in the Catholic intellectual tradition. Among its 12 schools and 23 research centers, the University provides an exceptional Catholic education to almost 7,000 students annually.

The Collection for The Catholic University of America underwrites scholarships to assist financially deserving students in completing their education at CUA in over 50 disciplines. Through its many programs, such as ethical business practices; classical architecture; intelligence studies; neuroscience; nursing; social service; and Catholic bioethics the University prepares students to respond to the many issues facing the Church and society today. Additionally, it trains future lay leaders as well as educating priests, brothers, sisters, and seminarians every year.

The National Collection for The Catholic University of America will be taken up here in the Diocese of Venice on the weekend of September 8 and 9, 2018. May God Bless you for your generosity!

This opportunity is taken to extend to you, the assurances of my continued consideration, as well as my prayers for you and your family.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

+ Frank J. Dewane
